

Privacy Policy

We are in compliance with EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) in all our operations, and we require the same from all our information system and service providers. We collect and process personal data only to the necessary extent and in ways that do not compromise privacy.

Processing of personal data

We do not provide services to consumers and do not collect, process or store consumers' personal data.

We do not collect, store or process personal data, except for practical contact information required for business relationship management, such as contact names, titles, email addresses, work addresses and telephone numbers provided by our business partners themselves. We will not release this information to any third party.

Processing of digital user data

Use of our digital applications does not require authentication. In some of our digital applications the user has the option to leave contact information. In these situations, the application notifies the user what he or she consents to, typically to register his/her completion or receive the contact or summary he or she requested, and how the contact information is used, processed and stored as described in this Privacy Policy statement. All our applications can be used anonymously, but the users' IP addresses are automatically stored to ensure continuity when the user returns to the application. Otherwise, we do not collect, process, store or share data that contains personal information from the use of the applications.
